COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course emphasizes the tasks and skills involved in writing formal essays. The essay writing process is deconstructed into achievable milestones in order to increase writing proficiency. Grammar mechanics will be consistently practiced based on each student's identified strengths and weaknesses. The course will conclude with an examination of types of writing found in the Bible.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- A. Identify the methods in which to use the reference book and website as a referencing tool.
- B. Develop a thesis statement.
- C. Articulate the components of an introduction.
- D. Articulate the components of a conclusion.
- E. Structure the components of the classic body.
- F. Identify writing types found in the Bible.
- G. Determine competencies in grammar mechanics.

The ASC provides accommodations for students with disabilities (physical, psychological, learning & ADD). Requests may be made throughout the semester, and they will be kept confidential. (803-807-5611, academicsuccess@ciu.edu). Students already receiving services through the ASC should contact the professor so that together they can make the student's academic experience in this class as successful as possible.

FORM AND STYLE

The official guide for all written work in connection with this course is the 7th edition of the APA manual.

PLAGIARISM

CIU Online Studies expects you to be honorable in your studies and responsible for your own academic work. Dishonesty in assignments, examinations, written papers, or other work is contrary to scriptural principles of Christian living and an affront to fellow students and your instructors. Plagiarism occurs when you present another person's ideas or words as your own, or when you intentionally or unintentionally fail to acknowledge or cite the source of the ideas you use.

Acknowledging and citing sources involves placing quotation marks around all the material you have taken (or paraphrased) from books, articles, internet sites, other students' papers, or other work you have not personally produced. It also involves listing full information about that source in a footnote or a parenthetical reference. Specific examples of plagiarism include but are not limited to the following:

1. Borrowing the words, sentences, ideas, conclusions, examples and/or organization of an assignment from a source (e.g., a book, an article, another student's paper, a tape/video, an internet site) without acknowledging the source.
2. Submitting work done by another student—in part or in whole—in place of original work.
3. Submitting assignments received from the Internet, from commercial firms or from any other person or group.
4. Knowingly aiding another student in plagiarizing an assignment as defined above.

You may not submit work that is part of a group consultation unless it is related to an assignment your syllabus specifically indicates is to be completed as part of a group. If you study for an exam with a review group, you may not reproduce any answers that others have written and submit it as your own work. You may not share with others answers to exam questions you have composed in advance. Any of these actions will be considered plagiarism.

Plagiarism will result in academic penalty, and may result in failure in the assignment, failure in the course, and further disciplinary action.

LATE WORK

Late assignments should be avoided. All assignments that are late will be marked down 10% per day they are late, starting one minute after midnight the day they are due for five successive days and will earn a zero thereafter.

SYLLABUS

The content of this syllabus is subject to change and modifications when deemed necessary.
